

Complaining

How many are enjoying the hot, sunny weather we have been having the past few days?

When it is cold, we wish it was warmer. When it is hot, we wish it was colder. When it is raining, we wish it was dry. When it is dry, we wish it was raining. I wish it were raining right now. Whenever neighbors drive by, I get a dust cloud covering my lawn mower, car, and house. I used my garden hose to wet down their driveway the other day.

It is human nature to complain about the weather. Philippians 2:14 tells us to do all things without murmurings and disputings:

I have never heard anyone complain about one thing: the gift of the Holy Ghost. The ones who complain about the Holy Ghost are those who have never received it.

I am grateful that my parents raised me in an Apostolic Pentecostal church where I received the Holy Ghost and was baptized when I was seven. Even when I was out of the church and wanted nothing to do with God, if someone asked me what religion I was, I would proudly say Apostolic Pentecostal.

1. The gift of the Holy Ghost is truly special—I've never heard anyone who truly had it complain about it! It reminds me of the unconditional love and joy I experienced growing up in the Apostolic Pentecostal church. 🙏 ✨ #Faith #Blessings
2. Even during times I strayed from my faith, the richness of my upbringing stayed with me. Proudly identifying as Apostolic Pentecostal has shaped my outlook on life. Let's hold onto our roots! #FaithJourney #Identity
